

I started my Costume/Wardrobe career at the tender age of 8 when I started designing & making clothing for my BARBIE dolls. From there I started making my own clothes, and continued to do so all through high school and college. I even made my first wedding dress, bridesmaid and flower girl dresses when I was just 18. After a few years in college studying Business & Fashion, I settled down and starting making outfits for my 4 daughters. I also made hair accessories to match their outfits. I made their bedroom decorations such as valances & curtains, pillow shams, quilts and afghans. I made Halloween costumes and prom dresses.

After our children were grown my husband Tom and I followed our youngest daughter to LA to pursue careers in the entertainment industry and to manage our daughters Acting and Modeling career. After several years of doing wardrobe/costumes, hair & makeup, production/set design and props for Angelique's modeling and acting gigs, I decided to try my hand at doing wardrobe/costumes for films and music video's. I found I enjoyed the challenge of working on indie features, short films and videos, and had a knack for meeting budgets and improvising.

I have a natural talent for interior decorating so the next logical step was to try my hand at production/set design. I designed an Orthodox Church and with the help of my assistant, the director and one of the producers of Holy Land. Before this endeavor I did production/set design as well as props for various photo shoots.
